

Common Considerations When Researching Portfolio

As you explore how Portfolio may benefit you, here are a few things to keep in mind.

What are your specific needs?

Why are you turning to Portfolio? Is it to boost your productivity by automating processes? Do you need an easy way to share assets across your team? Maybe you're simply tired of hunting down assets. Whatever your reason for considering Portfolio, you can pave the way for a successful installation by defining your specific needs ahead of time.

How big is your team?

Portfolio's powers are built to scale. As your team size increases, the value of being able to share assets quickly and seamlessly grows even faster.

Do you have existing business applications you'd like to integrate with Portfolio?

Portfolio offers integration support for a wide variety of the most common creative productivity applications. Our APIs make it easy to integrate Portfolio into your existing workflow, speeding the process and enhancing your overall efficiency.

How can technical support make your installation easier?

We are here to help, all you have to do is ask. Whether you've got a simple question or an especially complex installation ahead of you, our experts are available to make your life easier.

Other Considerations

- How quickly do you need Portfolio up and running?
- What is your initial budget to implement Portfolio?
- What IT resources can you dedicate to Portfolio?
- How many people will need access to Portfolio?
- Would you like a free trial of the software before diving in?
- What have other customers said about Portfolio?
